

Accommodation Selection and Use

Accommodations

- Accommodations provide access to instruction and assessment. Accommodations do not change the standard or expectations, just the route to mastery of the standard.

Access is: The opportunity and ability for an individual to participate in the instruction, discussions, activities, products, and assessment provided to all students within a public school.

Accommodations should be used to assist the student in accurately demonstrating their knowledge and for participation, not as a tool to enhance, inflate, or disguise a student's abilities.

- Accommodations should be based on:
 - Student deficit or area of need
 - Student input
 - Area of content
 - Task, or level of independence required
 - Data regarding effectiveness
